

MORRISVILLE STATE COLLEGE NORWICH CAMPUS

Morrisville State College's Norwich Campus offers associate degrees and course work in several specialized, sought-after fields such as criminal justice, human services, early childhood, business, nursing and computer technology.

Several curricula are IBM ThinkPad University programs, where the use of laptop computers is fully integrated into the classroom environment.

Follett Hall, the campus's new academic building, features state-of-the-art wireless classrooms, science, nursing and computer labs, a library, and a campus store.

The Norwich Campus also offers a range of services to the local community. The college works closely with local businesses to assure that community members get the education they desire and that local businesses have access to a highly trained workforce.
